ELEVATE THE PACKAGING EXPERIENCE WITH THE NEW TO GO FRESH MATCHED PACKAGING LINE

TO GO FRESH IS A TESTED, PROVEN DESIGN

We worked with a market research firm to conduct focus groups on matched packaging and folding carton look and functionality. We wanted to understand people's packaging expectations and buying habits, and we wanted to explore their preferences for packaging features, including which substrates, windows, and colors they liked. Lastly, we wanted to gain feedback on various matched packaging designs to see what resonated best. The resulting design is the new To Go Fresh Matched Packaging Line!

WHY SHOULD STORES UTILIZE MATCHED PACKAGING ON THEIR SHELVES?

- ◆ Packaging improves the brand's impression and creates opportunity
- ◆ A refined look reinforces or enhances the brand image
- ◆ Well thought out packaging makes customers think the food is well thought out too
- ◆ Focus group participants showed increased brand satisfaction
- ◆ Provides consumers opportunity for extra purchases based on "completing" their set of products
- ◆ Packaging that projects as plain or poorly made reflects negatively on the brand and can harm perception

WHAT THE FOCUS GROUPS SAID

WHAT CONSUMERS WANT IN A MATCHED PACKAGING DESIGN & HOW TO GO FRESH DELIVERS

- Color, or something that "pops" on the shelf → Use of Greens, Browns, and White "pop" on the various substrates
- Graphics, colors, and wording that are appropriate → Colors are bright but natural, and "To Go Fresh" is to the point
- Packaging that isn't too heavy on the marketing—customers don't want to feel like they're being sold to → Instead of using busy icon patterns or cliched adjectives, we simply state "Fresh" to highlight what matters to the consumer
- Something that looked nice to take to a gathering or party → The To Go Fresh graphics are elegant, on trend, and versatile
- Packaging that felt/looked higher end → Brown kraft cartons are seen as higher end, more natural
- Sturdy packaging that ensures food makes it to its destination → All packaging meets our performance and durability standards
- Windows that make it easy to see the food provided but don't compromise the durability of the packaging → Changed window configuration to maximize protection, allow great visibility, and reinforce food associations with window shapes
- Packaging that is easy to close, open, and use → Added patent pending spine reliefs for easy closing and utilized tuck tops and gable tops on Fresh and Prepared Foods cartons

WHAT PARTICIPANTS SAID ABOUT THE NEW TO GO FRESH MATCHED PACKAGING LINE...

"If I happen to go by the deli or bakery and I see something that's packaged really well, I'm more likely to make an impulse purchase."

"It just looks nice all together."

"It looks like it tastes better."

"If I'm going home and I have people coming over, I would just leave this here because this looks good."

"That's what we're looking for... we're looking for something fresh."

"It looks like you put thought into it."

"They're not just throwing food they found in the package in the back somewhere."

HERE'S THE DIRT ON COMMERCIAL COMPOSTING

GOOD FOR THE EARTH

According to the Biodegradable Products Institute, "composting is a natural process that turns organic materials into a valuable soil amendment."

Composting is vital to sustainability efforts. It diverts organic waste away from landfills and turns them into a product that can help the environment.

BENEFITS OF COMPOST

- ◆ Improves soil and water quality
- ◆ Can improve crop yields
- ◆ Can replace chemical fertilizers
- ◆ Reduces methane emissions
- ◆ Helps aid reforestation, wetlands restoration, and habitat revitalization
- ◆ Provides carbon sequestration.

TYPES OF COMPOSTING

Commercial composting facilities accelerate the breakdown of organic materials, like those in our commercially compostable packaging.

The two most common types of commercial composting today are windrow and Aerated Static Pile. A third method uses in-vessel, positive aeration, membrane laminate technology.

GET

HOW TO CREATE GREAT CUSTOM PRINTS

Inno-Pak has provided innovative packaging for more than 30 years, and our experience led to these guidelines.

- ◆ Send us an editable, vector, or high resolution logo (at least 300 dpi)
- ◆ Make sure all vector images are .eps or .ai
- ◆ If providing images, make sure all images are .psd, .tif, or hi-res .jpg (at least 300 dpi)
- ◆ If you want us to use a certain font, let us know
- ◆ Include or outline all fonts in provided logos and artwork
- ◆ Communicate your vision or concept in detail
- ◆ Share your style guide with us if you have one or other custom prints for reference
- ◆ Provide all colors in Pantone™ Color Codes
- ◆ Use uncoated colors for kraft and coated colors for SBS and plastics
- ◆ If the above criteria cannot be met, we can still create custom prints, but it takes more time and can cause difficulty for reproduction

Low resolution versus high resolution

COLOR DIFFERENCES MATTER

COATED & UNCOATED

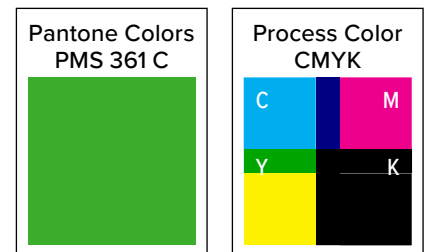

Coated and uncoated colors are designed for coated and uncoated paper, as their names imply.

- ◆ Coated substrates are typically white or clear and hold accurate color to their Pantone with a shinier finish.
- ◆ Uncoated substrates are typically papers—brown or white.
- ◆ Uncoated substrates look more natural, can feel more authentic, and can cause colors to look off from their Pantone because of the matte finish that they have.

SPOT VS. PROCESS COLORS

Typically, our custom printing is done with spot colors. In some cases, process printing (CMYK) is used.

- ◆ Spot colors are solid and based on Pantone's color matching system.
- ◆ Spot colors are better for color accuracy.
- ◆ Process printing overlaps transparent inks (cyan, yellow, magenta, and black) to replicate a color or shades.
- ◆ Process printing produces more colors but is not as exact.

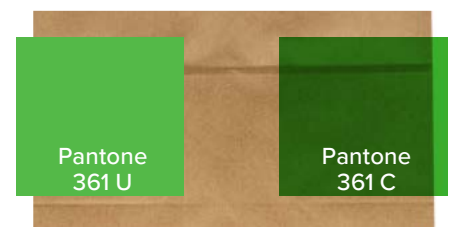

Spot versus process colors

PRINTING ONTO KRAFT PAPER

COATED & UNCOATED

Printing inks are not fully opaque, so the brown kraft paper color will tint the inks printed on the paper. Here are some guidelines for best results when printing color on kraft:

- ◆ Use Pantone Uncoated Colors—they will be truer to color on brown kraft papers
- ◆ Add a backing of white ink to improve color representation
- ◆ White counts as a color in the printing process
- ◆ Use two applications of white when printing white on kraft for best results (counts as 2 colors)

How uncoated (left) and coated (right) colors look on kraft
